

Since signing up on the no call list, when the phone rings in my home, I don't cringe expecting a telemarketer on the other end. In the past, I would receive multiple calls from the same telemarketing firms, for the same products, even when I've told them to stop calling. Please don't take this consumer protection away from the 'people'.